Presentations:

The New FAFSA Process :

Presenter: Sally Foster, Senior Financial Aid Officer at the University of Michigan-Dearborn

This presentation will review the FAFSA ID process, the changes to the FAFSA filing cycle, and the FAFSA itself. In the FAFSA review, Ms. Foster will provide an overview helpful to first-time filers and veterans. She will pay special attention to the areas of confusion for both students and parents. Questions will be taken after the presentation's conclusion.

Times: 5:00 PM and 6:00 PM

Scholarships and Grants:

Presenter: Eric Wignall, Vice President Enrollment Management Ancilla College

With college tuition costs steadily on the rise, understanding financial aid is incredibly important. Too many people think the only way to avoid massive college debt is a perfect SAT score, or fantastic three-point shooting, or proving dire financial need. This presentation will show you that you don't need perfect grades, a superhuman throwing arm, or a negative bank balance to get money for a college education. Scholarships are available from many, many sources. How scholarships, grants, and education loans work:

- How and when to apply for scholarships
- How educational loans can be incredibly useful, or dangerous, depending on how they are used
- Questions will be taken after the presentation's conclusion.

Times: 5:00 PM and 6:00 PM

Maintaining your Catholic faith as a college athlete

Presenter: Robb Barr Athletic Director Detroit Athletic Club and past President of National Athletic Conference of Athletic Directors (NACAD)

Transitioning from high school sports to college sports is one of the most complex challenges a young athlete can face. Then add in the fact the athlete is Catholic, the lifestyle becomes ever more complicated. This presentation will explain how successful athletes set their priorities to develop a balance lifestyle

Time: 6:30 PM

On behalf of the Knights of Columbus Council 7304 and myself, we would like to thank all of you counselors, principals and college advisors for helping us disperse this information to the parents and students. It is through your help this event will be another success. If you have the opportunity to stop by, we would welcome your comments and suggestions.
